Wallace R. Rogers Resigns as Pastor of Baptist Church

Has Accepted Pastorate of Church in Vicksburg, Mississippi

WILL LEAVE IN JUNE

Had Served Hope Four Years, Coming Here From Booneville

The Rev. Wallace R. Rogers tendered his resignation as pastor of First Baptist church Wednesday night after serving here the past four years.

He told the congregation, gathered for prayer meeting, that he had accepted the pastorate of First Baptist church at Vicksburg, Miss., and would take up his work there the latter part of June.

Educated at the University of Tennessee and at the Southern Baptist Theological Seminary at Louisville, Ky., the Rev. Mr. Rogers came to Arkansas as pastor at Booneville in 1930.

After serving the Booneville church 18 months, he came to Hope where he has spent the past four years.

While in Hope he was instrumental in erection of the new Baptist Sunday school plant which is considered one of the best in the state. He plans to begin work on a similar building at Vicksburg in the near future.

In a brief statement he said Thursday that he had enjoyed the finest of friendship and cooperation while in Hope and that no spirit of division had existed.

The Baptist church will begin immediately the task of obtaining another pastor. This will be done under the direction of a pulp committee to be appointed by Senior Deacon C. F. Rounton.

The Rev. Rogers will preach his last sermon in Hope on Sunday, June 14.

Smith Prepares to Defend Himself

Assembles Evidence to Present to Democratic Committee

LITTLE ROCK—State Comptroller Griffin Smith was assembling evidence Thursday which he will present to the State Democratic Committee at its June 6 meeting to determine his eligibility as a candidate for the nomination of chief justice.

Smith's only comment on the question of his eligibility to serve as justice, if elected, was to point out the supreme court's decision proving that he had practiced law from time to time since taking the state position in September, 1932.

Opponents of the Comptroller brought up the question of his eligibility at week ago which resulted in Committee Chairman J. D. Head, of Texarkana issuing a call for the June 6 meeting to clear up the question.

Preferential Primary to Be Held in Saline

BENTON—The Saline county Democratic Committee voted to hold a preferential primary two weeks preceding the August 11 primary. At the run-off July 28, all officers for which there were more than two candidates will be included.

A general demand for the run-off was voiced throughout the county, and only three members of the committee opposed.

The committee voted to close the ticket at 2 p. m. July 1.

Pen Captain and Wife Are Killed

Couple Slain by Convict Making Dash for Freedom

BATON ROUGE, La.—(AP)—The captain of a Louisiana penitentiary mission camp was shot and killed and his wife either shot or bludgeoned to death Wednesday night in a double killing blamed upon an escaping convict.

R. L. Himes, penitentiary general manager, said Captain N. J. Himes was shot and killed by Wilfred Lindsley, 23, serving a life sentence for a slaying in Baton Rouge three years ago, and that Lindsley then invaded a bathroom and either shot or bludgeoned Mrs. Himes to death in a tub.

Himes said the tub in which Mrs. Himes was killed was smeared with blood, and that it could not be determined immediately whether she was shot or beaten.

The killings occurred shortly after dark.

The penitentiary head said Lindsley was employed as a cook at the home of the Himes.

Captain Himes was in charge of camp G of the Angola state penal farm a 20,000 acre prison reservation.

Posses in Pursuit

The convict made his way into a hilly, sparsely populated country surrounding the gum, and a search was immediately organized.

The penal bloodhounds were brought into use.

Guards and all available men formed a posse. It was thought the fleeing prisoner might attempt to work his way northward into Mississippi. The Angola penal farm is situated on the Louisiana-Mississippi boundary.

General Manager Himes said Lindsley was employed at Camp "G" located on that part of the penal farm abutting the Mississippi river front. It was at about the same spot where a bloody break of convicts in 1928 resulted in the killing of six prisoners.

The penitentiary manager said Lindsley, shortly after dusk, unexpectedly seized a gun and shot Captain Himes, and then killed Mrs. Himes.

He said he informed Lindsley then threw the gun on another convict, seized a automobile parked near the prison camp, drove several miles across the penal farm and headed into the Tunica hills.

Methodist Adjourn; May Call Special Session

HIGH POINT, N. C.—(AP)—The quadrennial general conference of the Methodist Protestant church adjourned Wednesday after empowering its Executive Committee to call a special session if one is necessary.

The provision for a special session was made in anticipation of the annual conference approval of the union of the Methodist Protestant church, the Methodist Episcopal church, and the Methodist Episcopal church, South.

Fiorenza to Die in Electric Chair for Tub Murder

Jury Returns Verdict of Death After 19 Hours Deliberation

HAD KILLED WRITER

Robert Camden Pleads Guilty to Murdering Missouri Preacher

NEW YORK—(AP)—A jury of 12 men Thursday doomed John Fiorenza, 24, an upholsterer helper, to the electric chair for the Good Friday bath tub slaying of Mrs. Nancy Evans Titterton, youthful fiction writer.

Weary and haggard after 19 hours of deliberation, the jurors filed into General Sessions court at 10 a. m. and announced the death verdict.

Judge Charles Nott, Jr., said that he would sentence Fiorenza on June 5.

Fiorenza Awaits Fate

NEW YORK—(AP)—John Fiorenza, accused slayer of Mrs. Nancy Evans Titterton, awaited a verdict Wednesday night that could mean only two things—the death sentence or acquittal.

With the same outward calm that characterized his demeanor throughout most of his eight-day trial, the apprentice upholsterer heard the jury instructed to bring in one of three possible verdicts.

1. Not Guilty.

2. Not guilty by reason of insanity.

3. Guilty of murder in the first degree.

Outlaw Pleads Guilty

CENTERVILLE, Mo.—(AP)—The trial of Robert Camden, diminutive outlaw of the Ozarks, came to an abrupt halt in circuit court here Thursday when he suddenly walked to the bench and pleaded guilty to a charge of murdering the Rev. James Radford in August, 1933.

Young Farmer Is Flogged to Death

White Man and Two Negroes Arrested, Held Without Bond

RALEIGH, N. C.—(AP)—Wake county officers said Wednesday they had uncovered evidence indicating Norris Clifton, a young farmer, had been strung up between two trees near a liquor still site and flogged to death with sticks.

His body, the face and his head mangled, was found early Tuesday on a public road near Wake Forest.

William Wadford, 40, and two negroes, Oscar Gill, 40, and Dalphus Fort, 30, were arrested and held without bond.

Covered L. M. Waring, who conducted an autopsy, said investigators believed the body had been taken from near the still site and hauled six miles in a truck and dumped on the roadside.

The body was discovered by the farmer's brother, Thomas Clifton.

Three Lawyers to Get $100,000,000 Fee

Represented Infant Son of Libby Holman in Litigation Suit

WINSTON-SALEM, N. C.—(AP)—A fee of more than $100,000,000 was approved in Forsyth County Superior Court Wednesday for the three attorneys who represented the infant son of Libby Holman Reynolds in litigation over settlement of the $28,000,000 estate of his late father, Z. Smith Reynolds, tobacco baron.

Judge Wilson Warlick ruled that the attorneys were entitled to "a reasonable" compensation and set it at 15 per cent of the net inheritance of the child, Christopher Smith Reynolds, now three and a half years old.

By terms of the family agreement recently approved in various courts, the child will receive about $7,000,000. A claim by the federal government for death taxes, which is being resisted by the heirs, is delaying final settlement of the estate.

The attorneys are Benet Polikoff, William Graves and Wallace McClellan, all of Winston-Salem.

Spa Bill Approved

WASHINGTON—(AP)—The house public lands committee approved Wednesday the McClellan bill increasing the penalty for persons making false oaths of financial stress in order to obtain free bathing treatment at Hot Springs reservation in Arkansas.

June 20 Is Final Date to Sign Up on Farm Program

Work Sheets Must Be Filled With County Agent to Get Payments

1,500 ALREADY FILED

Mountcastle Makes Appeal to Producers Before Deadline Expires

Farmers who fail to file a work sheet with the county office before June 20 are not eligible to receive any soil-building or soil-conserving payments, according to W. E. Mountcastle, county agent.

A number of farmers in Hempstead county who are already managing their farms in such a way as to qualify for grants under the soil conservation program or who would have to make only slight changes in order to do so, will not be eligible for payment because they are not filing work sheets.

More than 1,500 have already filed this form with the county committee.

Hempstead county farmers who do not make out these work sheets will be missing an opportunity to receive payment for something they are now doing, and which will increase the value of their land.

Those farmers who have signed work sheets and have become familiar with the details of the program are not finding it difficult to bring their farms into performance.

Revenue Agent Is Held Up, Robbed

Forced at Point of Gun to Give Up State-Owned Automobile

LITTLE ROCK—State Revenue Officer Shelby reported to county officers the theft of his state-owned car late Wednesday night by two men who held him up as he waited for a freight train to cross the Pine Bluff highway between Sweet Home and Wrightsville.

Shelby said the pair approached his car from the side of the road and at the point of a gun forced him to drive down a side road where they forced him to get out and walk. The officer described the men as being about 21 or 22.

A short time later two men of a similar description held up the Brannan liquor store, Rose City, and escaped with $15 taken from the cash register. S. C. Lyons, proprietor, said the robbers missed $300 which one of the three customers in the store had in his pocket.

After backing out of the store the robbers got into a car of the same make and model as the one taken from Shelby and drove away on Highway 70 in the direction of Memphis, Lyons said.

Highway Board Lets Contracts

Half Million Is Involved in 15 Projects in Arkansas

LITTLE ROCK—(AP)—The state highway commission awarded contracts totaling approximately a half million dollars Wednesday on 15 highway and grade crossing elimination projects.

Contracts awarded Wednesday for $498,466.65 placed more than 75 per cent of the $7,000,000 WPA highway aid program in Arkansas under contract. The remainder must be under contract by June 30.

The funds were allotted the state last year and further construction hinges on passage of the bill now before congress which would provide highway funds to states which are not able to match federal monies.

The commission heard delegations from Cleveland, Lincoln and Jefferson counties, advising all that their projects could not be given consideration unless additional federal monies were provided.

No bids were received on a project calling for graveling seven miles on the Monticello-Winchester farm-to-market road in Drew county and Graveling of 7.7 miles on the Van Buren-Kibler farm-to-market road in Crawford county. The projects will be advertised.

Projects upon which contracts were awarded and the successful bidders included:

Howard county, 1.1 miles of bituminous surfacing on the Mineral Springs city connection, state highway 27, A. C. Kennedy, Little Rock, $13,516.33.

It Happened a Hundred Years Ago--a Gunshot in the Tavern!

On the old stage coach trails of 100 years ago the traveler moved slowly—and half his life, he must have thought, was spent in the country taverns of the stage's overnight stops.

How many of those taverns there were!

The Star gathered three of them into its photographic record Wednesday for the Centennial Edition of June 26.

The big Graflex press camera "shot" the old tavern in Washington where Augustus H. Garland, Albert Pike and other notables met in the days of the county-seat's political glory.

Also, the stage-coach tavern in the old section of Nashville, which was Nashville's first hotel. The modern city has moved away a quarter-mile and left the old tavern standing by itself in a field.

And then the camera journeyed from Nashville straight across northern Hempstead county to Blevins for the last two "shots" of the day.

Picture No. 1 was of the tomb and monument of Edward Cross, first federal judge of this territory, who is buried with his wife in a little cemetery on a pleasant hill on the farm of Wiley Duckett.

Picture No. 2 closes our story of a day's adventure with the camera. It was a picture of the old Blevins tavern—built of squared logs, without nails or pegs, the corners of the building being dovetailed together like the corner of a big box. About 150 feet from the building you can see the deep-rutted, grass-grown remains of the 100-year-old stage-coach road. . . . Whips cracked, men shouted—and the stage swung off the road and pulled up to the tavern porch to discharge its tired and dusty passengers. . . . And upstairs you will find in the thick planks an ancient bullet hole. Tradition tells us that there, one night, a not-so-tired traveler either quarreled over cards or walked in his sleep. At any rate, he died all of a sudden . . . on the old stage road in Hempstead county a hundred years ago. . . .

Crucial Vote On Tax Bill Is Near

Administration Forces Want Higher Taxes on Corporations

WASHINGTON—(AP)—With administration forces attempting to rally support behind higher taxes on undistributed corporation earnings, the senate finance committee Thursday postponed at least until Friday the crucial vote on whether to approve the tax bill which it has already framed.

Debate Appropriation Bill

WASHINGTON—(AP)—With leaders pressing for a vote by Friday, the senate began debate Thursday on the deficiency appropriation bill carrying a $1,425,000,000 for next year's relief fund.

Nothing apparently stood in the way of quick action on the long disputed measure.

Threat to Adjournment

WASHINGTON—(AP)—President Roosevelt's demand that revenue yield of the tax bill be increased threw the Senate Finance Committee into such bitter dissension that some Senate leaders abandoned plans for a June 6 adjournment.

Majority Leader Robinson of Arkansas, however, said he was not "going to concede we are not going to get through."

A showdown scrap over presidential assistance that additional revenue be provided by higher taxes on undistributed corporation profits became certain as the committee agreed to vote on approval of its own compromise tax plan.

Members agreed that the issue was back where it began as a result of last night's White House conference attended by the president, committee Democrats, Secretary Morgenthau and Herman Oliphant, Treasury general lawyer.

Administration senators were holding out for higher surtaxes on undistributed corporation income as desired by the executive. The committee bill now calls for a flat seven per cent levy. Conservatives again were in revolt against larger rates. They had consented to the seven per cent levy only on an understanding that the committee would stick by it. Several said they would go back to a lower rate if any attempt were made to raise the seven per cent. The group at one time held a 12 to 8 margin of votes in the committee.

Some senators said the tax situation was in a "mess" and Senator Clark (Dem., Mo.) called it "hopeless."

Acting Chairman King of Utah intimated that if a bill were agreed to it would be more in the line with the committee measure than the plan advanced at the White House.

The committee plan would put a flat 18 per cent tax on corporation income, a seven per cent levy on undistributed earnings, and subject dividends to the normal four per cent income tax.

Experts in the U. S. treasury each day count approximately 40,000 new bills and 25,000 old ones.

Black Legion May Be Probed by G-Men

Solon Asks Congress to Conduct Investigation, Crimes Mounting

DETROIT—(AP)—A congressional investigation to "blow the lid off" the Black Legion and kindred organizations loomed Wednesday as additional indications of the widespread ramifications of the secret terrorist society reached investigators.

The demand for congressional action was made by Representative Dickstein (D-N.Y.) almost at the moment Senator Duncanson C. McCrea telegraphed Attorney General Cummings an appeal for assistance for the department of justice in his investigation.

Dickstein introduced a resolution in the house asking appointment of a committee of seven to investigate the Black Legion, "The Black Shirts," "The Christian Party," "The ABC Legion of New York," and "The Robert Edward Edmondson organization of New York."

In his request for department of justice aid, McCrea said he had received letters from officers or individuals in "from 15 to 18" states relating crimes attributed to the Black Legion. Some of these involved kidnappings in which state lines were crossed "for murder or intimidation" McCrea said.

McCrea did not name the states, but said he had received letters from Chicago and New York indicating the existence of the outlawed brotherhood in both cities.

Dickstein said he had information that the activities of the Black Legion centered in Michigan, Ohio, Colorado, Pennsylvania and to some extent in New York.

About 40 per cent of Germany's foreign obligations is held in the United States, the remainder being distributed among several countries.

General Walkout in East Arkansas Called by Union

Planters and Officers Greet Announcement With Indifference

3 COUNTIES INVOLVED

Governor Futrell Says He Will Pursue "Hands Off" Policy

MEMPHIS, Tenn.—(AP)—Sharecroppers and tenant farmers Thursday were asked by the Southern Tenant Farmers union to join cotton choppers in a general strike in three east Arkansas counties.

Announcement of the general strike call was made by H. L. Mitchell, secretary of the union, who said that he acted as a result of a vote taken Wednesday at a meeting of strike committees from St. Francis, Cross and Crittenden counties.

Planters and officers greeted the announcement of the strike call with outward indifference.

Blames Agitators

LITTLE ROCK—(AP)—Governor Futrell said Thursday that he would pursue a hands off policy in the strike of cotton choppers in eastern Arkansas and said that the agitators are responsible for the trouble.

"I've chopped cotton many a day for 50 cents a day and my dinner without complaining," he said. "I don't want to chop cotton for $1 a day. They can go on the federal relief rolls."

By Associated Press

Labor leaders estimated more than 45,000 industrial and agricultural workers were participating in strikes which affected 17 states Wednesday night.

There were few instances of trouble. The situation was tensest at Syracuse, N. Y., by the announcement that Remington-Rand, Inc., manufacturers of typewriters and office equipment, would re-open their plant Thursday.

The announcement came after 400 of the 17 employees voted to return to work. Strike leaders immediately announced they would organize picket lines.

Mayor Rolland E. Marvin promised police protection to those who went back to work.

Employees of five other Remington-Rand plants in New York, Ohio and Connecticut—estimated by union leaders at 4300—also were on strike.

While dozens of other strikes continued with little or no progress toward settlement, 500 taxicab drivers went on strike at Dallas, Texas, ten days before the opening of the Texas centennial exposition.

At Lexington, Mo., a street railway strike tied up city transportation.

At Cambridge, Mass., Miss Vera DuPont, first cousin of Pierre DuPont, the manufacturer, and Mrs. George Burroughs, first cousin of the late President Coolidge, picketed with striking truck drivers.

Business representatives of a newly organized auto mechanics union in Seattle announced a strike for a closed shop.

In Chicago, efforts to settle the dispute between the International Seamen's Union and 700 striking members failed.

Flying squadrons were organized in New York by the barbers union in an effort to get members to join a strike, which union leaders said already involved 7500 barbers.

New York police drove away six striking seamen who attempted to picket the home of Mayor F. H. LaGuardia. They also dispersed a picket line of the Panama Pacific Line pier.

Bulletins

HOT SPRINGS—(AP)—Shooting sub-par golf, Frank Steidel, 21, of Helena gained a three up advantage over Jack Tinsla of Little Rock in the first nine holes of their 36-hole match Friday for the 1936 state golf championship.

BATON ROUGE, La.—(AP)—Under a bill brought before the Louisiana legislature Thursday amending the city charter of New Orleans, Mayor Walmesley, political foe of the late Senator Long, would retire from office with a pension of $5,000 a year for life.

LONDON, Eng.—(AP)—Prime Minister Stanley Baldwin Thursday set May 12, 1937, as the day on which King Edward the Seventh will be formally invested with authority of the British throne in a centuries old coronation ceremony.

The Great Marquis

PORTUGAL'S power was declining early in the 18th century, when a genius in statecraft arose. He was Sebastian Jose de Carvalho e Melo, student of law and international affairs, who became prime minister of Portugal at the height of his power. When King Joseph made him Marquis de Pombal, he became known as "The Great Marquis." He introduced domestic reforms, and advanced the country's prestige.

In supreme power, under King Joseph Carvalho crushed the nobility, limited the power of the Inquisition, and finally banished the Jesuits. When Joseph's daughter, Maria, ascended the throne in 1777, she quickly effected his downfall. She deprived him of his office, freed the enemies whom he had imprisoned and subrogated many of his reforms. Finally, in 1781, she forbade him to live within 20 leagues of the palace.

In 1925, Portugal issued a set of stamps, important for each of its possessions, with the purpose of raising funds for a monument to Carvalho.

Radiantly Healthy and Happy, Quins Greet Second Birthday

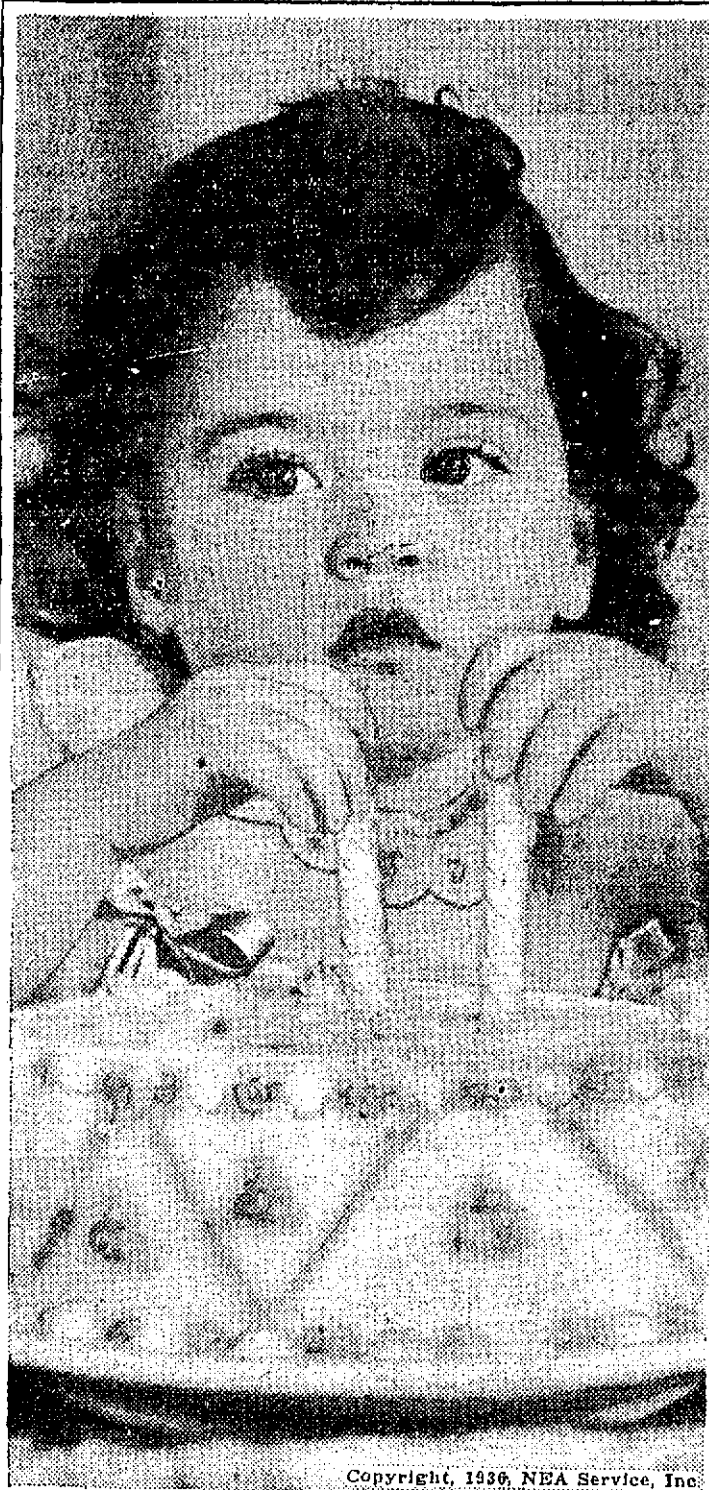

Copyright, 1936, NEA Service, Inc.

Annette bursts into shrill and joyous laughter as the festivities get under way for the quintuplets' second birthday. She has already made considerable havoc with the top of that birthday cake, and its two candles have already fallen victim to her exploring fingers. "Whee-e-e! It's a grand thing to be two years old!" Annette cries.

Copyright, 1936, NEA Service, Inc.

And here are all five of the plump little girls, all dressed up and ready to begin the birthday festivities, a fine two-candled cake for each. What little secret do you suppose Yvonne is whispering to the attentive Dr. Daloe, center? Cecile and Marie, at left, experiment with their candles under the watchful eye of Nurse Leroux, while at right Nurse Noel watches over Emilie and Annette.

Copyright, 1936, NEA Service, Inc.

Cecile appears to be counting her two birthday candles with great gravity and considering the prospect of a third year of that fascinating thing called life.

Copyright, 1936, NEA Service, Inc.

Marie, also, is drawn to the beauty of her roses even more strongly than to the delights of a birthday cake. Note the alertness in her bright eyes and in the gesture of her chubby hand.

Copyright, 1936, NEA Service, Inc.

Surrounded by nice things, grave Emilie is somewhat in doubt whether to choose a lovely rose or her birthday cake for first attention. Doesn't she suggest a little princess, sitting there so composed and dignified? Surely no princess could be lovelier!

Copyright, 1936, NEA Service, Inc.

And here we are, all by ourselves with our gay birthday cakes! Cecile, left, is gravely attentive as the camera is focused, but Marie is poised for what looks as if it might become a raid on the territory of neighbor Yvonne, who had better get an eye on her cake. Emilie is doing things to her cake already, in a shower of crumbs and fallen candles, while Annette's attention has been drawn ceilingward. Let the fun begin!

A picture of joyous well-being and childish happiness. Yvonne fingers her cake expectantly, and meanwhile turns her face upward with as pretty a smile as anybody could ask. "Glad you like our party!" she seems to be saying.
